Malihini Mele

capo

As I strolled along the shore
 In a mu'umu'u made of koa
 While I played a tune on my sweet 'okolehau

And I sang a pretty song
 As she danced her sweet kapu
 With a wikipiki smile and a nuinui holoku

 Pretty soon by the light of the tropical moon
 A malihini did appear
 And he strolled hand in hand on the beautiful sand
 With a lovely pilikia

Then he softly told her how He'd seen a great big bad lū'au
 With a red 'ōpū and a great big hukilau

Swim along singing a song
 Kānes and wahines and even little keikis kissing
 A ho'omalimali and a wela ka hao

This cute song by R. Alex Anderson in 1934 is pure nonsense. Common practice is to have those keiki singing, not kissing, as the original score has it; we encourage you to mark up this workbook to suit your own style and needs.
